Course Description: Photography is a vital tool for diagnosis, treatment planning, case design, patient communication, lab communication, staff training and more. Without it, we are limited to guessing or assuming what the proper treatment plan should be. This course will demonstrate the necessity for clinical photography and will discuss the current available photographic tools and settings needed for the proper transfer of accurate information.

- 2:30 p.m. – 3:30 p.m. Breaking the Stigma of Removable Dental Prosthetics
Speaker: Arian Deutsch
Credits: NBC Approved for 1 Hour of Scientific Credit

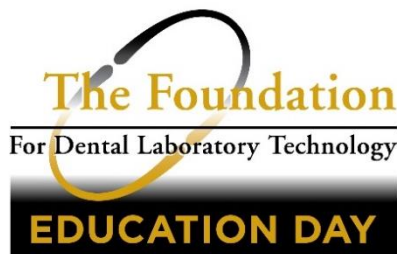

Course Description: The perception that fixed prosthetics are superior and removable prosthetics are inferior has been a stigma that has influenced the way patients view treatment, especially when it comes to implant prosthetics. In this course, we will explore how removable prosthetics are making a comeback, and why they prove to be a superior restoration when combined with implants in a rigid solution.
